RoHol
The Austrian Wood Composer

Sauna products

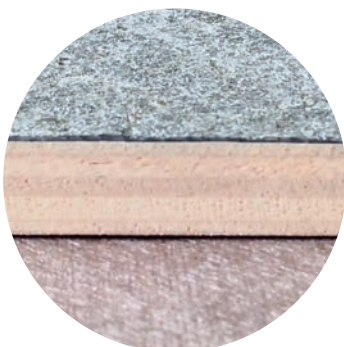

Original RoHol SaunaPly and SPress sauna walls have opened up new exciting dimensions in sauna construction.

All RoHol products are 100% produced in Austria - right down to the unique finishing touches, which are also performed at our factory here in Rosenau.

SaunaPly

Original RoHol SaunaPly was especially developed with Sauna construction in mind. This panel emits less formaldehyde than solid, non-glued wood, even at high temperatures. And, considering the over 100 wood species on offer, it also offers brand new design possibilities for creating your own personal Sauna project.

- Main thickness: 16 mm
- Additional thicknesses: 13; 18; 26; 30; 39 mm on demand

- Other lengths on request
- Bonding: D4 in accordance with DIN EN 204, or EN 314 Part 2, Class 2

SPress®

Original RoHol SPress combines the construction of the sauna interior, the insulation and the substrate in an organic composite material. The standard size of the boards are 2500 x 1250 or 2200 x 1250 mm with a lengthwise and transverse outer layer available. SPress is attainable in over 100 different high-grade timbers, either as a raw material with a rotary-cut veneer as the outer layer, or with a face veneer. It is also available in 2 different assembly variants.

- Over 100 different high-grade timbers
- SPress „Wall“ U 0,7 U-Value
- SPress „Ceiling“ U 0,4 U-Value < 0,7 W / (m²*K) and 115 mm thickness

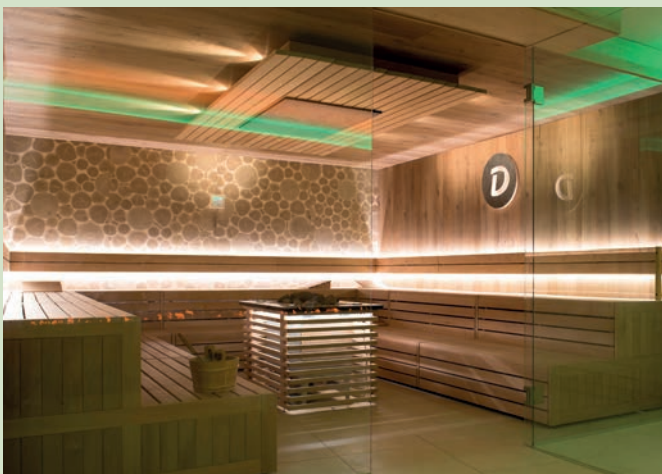

Sauna & Spa References

The combination of different materials, especially those taken from the exceptional variety of high-grade timbers, enable unbelievable architectural effects to be achieved.

RoHol's SaunaPly and SPress sauna walls make this possible in more than 100 decorative high-grade timbers.

Gone are the days in which saunas and heat cabins were to be found hidden away in cellars, made up out of old-fashioned spruce planks.

- Absolutely free from pollutants
- Made in Austria
- Customised and tailor-made design
